Ike Warned Avoid Making Truman Error

Dem Senators Fear U.S. May Enter Indochina War By 'Back Door'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower was warned by a Democratic senator today to avoid making a "Truman mistake" in dealing with the present situation in Indochina.

Sensors Russell (D-Ga.) and Mansfield (D-Mont.) said they fear the United States may be backed into war in that area.

They called upon Eisenhower to consult Congress before taking any further steps to help the French against renewed Communist attacks. Eisenhower told his news conference yesterday there is no attempt to carry on any policy in the dark.

The President said every move the government takes to aid anti-Communist forces in Indochina is carefully calculated to keep the United States from getting involved in a hot war there.

"What I am apprehensive about," Russell said, "is getting backed into war through the chipstone assignment of personnel."

RUSSELL, a member of the Armed Services Committee, said the committee was not told about the assignment of 200 American Air Force technicians until they were on their way to Indochina.

"There are plenty of mechanics they could have gotten to go without sending servicemen," Russell added. "There are plenty of mechanics in France."

Mansfield advised the administration to "avoid the Truman mistake" by "informing Congress before any action is taken. I don't want to be brought into Indochina by the back door."

Meanwhile, 10,000 Vietminh invaders of Laos advanced to a point on the Hou River only 37 miles northeast of Luang Prabang, the royal capital that the French and ailing old King Sisavong Vong have vowed to defend.

Rail Tycoons Seen Entering Bitter Fight

NEW YORK (AP)—Rejection of Robert R. Young as a director and chairman of the board of the New York Central Railroad threatened today to touch off a wide-open battle for control of the vast rail system.

Young, who controls the railroad's largest individual stock holding, denounced the present board of directors after its action yesterday.

In a statement from his Palm Beach, Fla., home, he declared: "The real issue is whether the owners of the properties are going to be made to continue to submit to a Morgan nonownership board with countless conflicting interests or whether they are to enjoy what every honest business under our American system must have if shareholders and the public are to be served instead of be damned."

"That is an ownership board with a strong ownership in its chair. The New York Central owners, I am sure, on May 25 will give the right answer."

The railroad's annual meeting, at which all shares can be voted in an election for the new board of directors, is scheduled for May 26.

Reliable sources figure holdings of Young and his associates amount to about 300,000 shares, or about 5 per cent of the total shares. The largest holding among present directors of the railroad is that of Harold S. Vanderbilt, who has 10,000 shares. Director George Whitney, board chairman of J. P. Morgan & Co., represents 100 shares.

The bulk of the Central's 6,447,410 shares are widely held.

A spokesman for Young said yesterday he will come to New York early next week to launch a campaign to get stockholders' voting proxies.

Television Stars Await 'Emmies'

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Tonight is television's big night. The TV Academy is handing out its Emmies to television "greats." Rivalry is high both between the individual stars and programs and between New York and Hollywood.

Local sentiment is counting on Jack Webb to come through with top awards over his rivals. His laconic talking "Dragnet" has overtaken last year's topper, "I Love Lucy," in the audience ratings. It is expected that the cops-and-hoodlums series will demonstrate its success in the awards.

DAZED BUT HAPPY, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Buroff, parents of five children in less than a year, do a weighing job in their Rahway, N. J., home. Mrs. Buroff gave birth to twin girls Feb. 10, 1953, and to triplets last Jan. 17.

Ohio Water Pollution Goal May Be Achieved By 1960

COLUMBUS (AP)—The chairman of Ohio's water pollution board predicted today the "major goals of the anti-pollution campaign will be achieved by 1960."

In a talk prepared for delivery at Ohio State University's third annual water clinic conference, Dr. John D. Porterfield said there was more progress toward the "abatement of water pollution in Ohio during 1953 than in any previous year in Ohio's history."

But, he added, "at the same time, the concentration of pollution in the waters of Ohio also reached an all-time high."

Dr. Porterfield, who also is state health director, credited the 1953 drought, "one of the worst on record," with bringing "a new awareness of all water problems."

"It pointed up sharply the seriousness of pollution," he declared. Said Dr. Porterfield:

"By 1960, at least 90 per cent of our urban population should have adequate sewage treatment. By 1960, all industries which discharge wastes directly into waters of the state should have proper treatment facilities."

BUT THE HEALTH director warned that with a population growth of 100,000 per year and the expansion of industry, "it has been estimated that water usage will double again by 1975. Waste discharges also will be doubled. It will be necessary continually to expand facilities for sewage and waste treatment."

Dr. Porterfield cited Zanesville as an example of "the progress that can be made in a relatively short time."

When the permit control law went into effect a year and one-half ago, Porterfield said, Zanesville had no sewage treatment and no plans for any.

Under the permit time schedules, he continued, Zanesville hired engineers and completed general plans in four months and detailed plans in 10 more months.

A $4 million plant will be completed and in use there before 1960, Porterfield said.

Ohio's eight largest cities with populations of more than 100,000, are making excellent progress as a group, Porterfield said. He said Canton last year completed and placed in operation a new sewage system costing $3½ million.

Lausche Asks For Advice On TB Hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche today asked Health Director John D. Porterfield and an advisory committee in his department to recommend a site in southeastern Ohio for a new tuberculosis hospital.

But before the advisory committee to the department of health on tuberculosis care makes its recommendation, the governor suggested enlarging it from six to nine members. He suggested the new members should be laymen from outside the area appointed by Dr. Porterfield to make the study.

The last Legislature voted appropriations for the new hospital in southeastern Ohio without designating a site. The six present members of the committee are Drs. H. H. Cashman of St. Clairsville, Kenneth W. Hamilton of Columbus, Carl A. Wilzbach of Cincinnati, J. T. Villani of Akron and R. C. McKay and J. B. Stocklan, both of Cleveland.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. John H. H. Cashman of St. Clairsville, described South Korean President Syngman Rhee today as a "great patriot" who will continue to "collaborate with the United States all the way through."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal Judge John McGohey today granted a government motion to dismiss a contempt of Congress charge against gambler Frank Erickson. The charge grew out of Erickson's refusal to answer questions before the U. S. Senate Crime Investigating Committee in the spring of 1951.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The April draft call, announced late yesterday by the Army, is for 18,000 men—the same as the February and March quotas.

New Bait Seen In Red Offer For 'Security'

Western Ministers Shun Idea, But Some Nibbling Expected

BERLIN (AP)—V. M. Molotov's new security pact, already spurned by the Western foreign ministers, appeared loaded today with considerable popular appeal for West Europeans and particularly for the French. Some nibbling on the Red bait may develop long after the Big Four conference ends.

French observers deemed the Soviet proposal's clause calling for the neutralization of Germany would mean fresh trouble for Foreign Minister Georges Bidault in his fight to get the six-nation European Defense Community Treaty ratified by France's balking parliament.

The Soviet foreign minister's avowed aim is to do away with both that treaty, which would arm West Germans along with French, Italian, Belgian, Dutch and Luxembourg under unified command, and the 14-nation North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Soviet proposal for a Big Four meeting with Communist China and rival Soviet and French proposals for a world disarmament conference were up for renewed discussion today at the second secret session of the Big Four ministers conference.

TONIGHT THE Westerners entertain Molotov's delegation at a cocktail reception. Tomorrow the ministers start discussing the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

In yesterday's regular meeting at West Berlin's old Allied Control Authority Building, Molotov offered Europe a 50-year collective security pact in return for expelling United States armed forces from the continent and shattering the Western alliance.

He sought to promote a European security conference at some time in the future.

This proposal was certain to in-

Tax Payment Is Covered With Blood

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—An irate taxpayer, who paid part of a $13,542 federal tax claim with a tub full of silver dollars over which he had poured two buckets of blood, threw the U. S. tax office into a furor here yesterday.

The taxpayer, Robert Friel, 27, of Council Bluffs, said he staged the dramatic incident to "raise hell" with tax collectors because he said they had harassed his parents during an investigation of his finances. He said he got the blood from a packing house.

He drew the ire of Iowa Internal Revenue Director Frank Halpin, who accused him of defacing U. S. money. But after the Secret Service ruled that the silver dollars were not defaced unless they were permanently damaged, Halpin agreed to accept the payment.

However, he insisted that Friel count it. That took Friel more than two hours. The payment added up to $4,997.

Friel, who said he had been in the construction and investment business before he got into income tax trouble, told newsmen the incident was his way of protesting the "harassment" of his parents because of his tax troubles. He said his father, F. E. Friel, suffered three strokes as a result.

Farmers Set Milk Output Record; Butter Surplus Up

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department survey indicated today dairy farmers are pouring high-priced, concentrated feed into their dairy cows in an effort to produce more and more milk.

And production figures show the more milk production increases, the larger grows the nation's butter surplus, which is protected by support prices. The department already has millions of dollars worth of surplus butter.

Milk production set a record of 120.2 billion pounds during 1953, an increase of 4 per cent over 1952. The previous record was 119.8 billion pounds in 1945.

A report issued yesterday said milk production in January exceeded nine billion pounds for the first time in history for the month and was 5 per cent greater than in January last year.

The department said the heavy rate of production largely reflected the fact that dairymen are feeding cows a record quantity of concentrated feeds—that is, grains,

SENATORS IGNORING EISENHOWER ADVICE

Woman Sees Little Future After Masquerade As Male

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A 35-year-old woman who dressed as a male since she was 7 and whose masquerade confounded a criminal court pondered the future today as she awaited transfer to the state reformatory for women.

"There can't be much of a future now," Violet Marie Bradshaw told a newsman. "I don't know whether I will be able to live it down." Violet was unmasked as a woman in a sensational turn of events yesterday after she had been sentenced to a term of 1 to 10 years in Mansfield Reformatory, an institution for men only, on an embezzlement charge.

Judge Dana F. Reynolds hastily changed the sentence to the Mansfield Reformatory for Women after Violet's brother, Patrick, protested the person appearing in court dressed as a man actually was a woman.

Violet appeared in court as Vernon M. Bradshaw. Her "brother" of last August, Vera L. Bradshaw, 29, fled the courtroom after the startling revelation. Newsmen were unable to locate her afterward.

But Violet told newsmen the disclosure of her masquerade "must have taken her by surprise. I tried to tell her myself, but I couldn't get around to it."

Mrs. Vera Bradshaw has 2 children—a boy 12 and a girl 8—by a previous marriage.

There was no pretense in her masquerade in her native Kenova, W. Va., for many years, Violet told newsmen. She said she was known there by her correct name, adding: "I started wearing boys' clothes when I was about 7, when I started to school. I have worn boys' and men's clothes ever since."

"I wore my brother's clothes and when I got big enough to buy them, I'd buy my own."

"I worked at home. We had hogs."

Toledo Paper Endorses Saxbe

TOLEDO (AP)—William Saxbe, speaker of the Ohio House of Representatives, today received the endorsement of the independent Toledo Blade for the Republican nomination for U. S. senator.

Both Saxbe, of Mechanicsburg, and his Republican primary opponent, Rep. George H. Bender of Cleveland, were to be in Toledo today, Bender to deliver the address at a Lincoln Day dinner.

In its editorial endorsement the Blade said "We think he (Saxbe) can give the party the new type of leadership it needs." The article also said that in Saxbe are combined "brains and ability and savvy to form a unique political personality."

Dr. E. L. Montgomery of Circleville will be the main speaker Thursday night at the February meeting of the Circleville Parents-Teachers Association. The meeting starts at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium here.

Capitol Hill Highlights

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three farm economists tell the Senate-House economic committee that President Eisenhower's proposal to replace rigid farm price supports with a more flexible system would not solve the perplexing problem of surpluses.

Clyde Mitchell, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Nebraska, states the proposed switch would be "a change for the worse."

John K. Galbraith, Harvard economics professor, testifies the administration's program "virtually continues all of the shortcomings of the present one" and has the "added defect that it unsettles somewhat further the farm income prospects."

Louis H. Bean, a private economic consultant here, says lower farm prices "under certain circumstances actually bring increase in acreage."

NOMINATION—Eisenhower asks the Senate to confirm the nomination of John M. Cabot, a state department career officer, as ambassador to Sweden.

President Eisenhower's advice to Republicans that they use restraint in criticizing Democrats ignored as some GOP senators tee off anew.

Sen. McCarthy of Wisconsin repeats his description of the Roosevelt-Truman era as "20 years of treason." Sen. Jenner of Indiana says, "I propose to tell the truth regardless of politics." Sen. John Marshall Butler of Maryland holds Democratic administrations accountable for the fall of China to the Reds.

These senators, like many other Republican legislators, are making Lincoln Day speeches around the country—McCarthy in California, Jenner in Indiana and Butler in West Virginia.

Democrats in Congress applaud Eisenhower's statement—but some say it does not go far enough.

Coffee—Rep. Angell (R-Ore.) says he will push for early House action on a bill to bring coffee trading under government regulation. Such federal supervision, says Angell, would curb any price fixing that might exist. The bill passed the Senate yesterday with ease.

Taxes—Rep. Boggs (D-La.) predicts the House Ways and Means Committee will reverse itself and accept his plan to boost personal income tax exemptions from the present $600 for each taxpayer and dependent. Boggs says the committee might okay the $100 increase he urged or a lesser one of $50. Several GOP committee members discount the idea.

Surplus Foods—Chairman Aiken (R-Vt.) of the Senate Agriculture Committee suggests using surplus American food to pry Red satellites away from Soviet Russia. The government now holds some six billion dollars worth of surplus farm products under its price support program.

Sunshine Cost Ruled Deductible

CLEVELAND (AP)—Florida sunshine is a tax deductible item for a Shaker Heights resident.

Claiming the Florida sun had helped his hearing, William B. Watkins, 81, successfully appealed an Internal Revenue Service ruling that denied the cost of a trip to Florida was a deductible medical expense. Judge Marian J. Harron said she was convinced Watkins in 1949 was "solely and primarily for mitigation" of his hearing defect. The cost of travel and lodgings (but not food) amounting to $1,401 in taxable income, or $577 in taxes, was deductible, she held.

a while, then went back to Kenova. I returned in about 1948.

"I worked first for the cleaner. From there I went to a filling station to work and then I was a carpenter's helper. I drove a truck for an ice cream company."

The Hi-Grade Ice Cream Co. was the firm for which "Vernon M. Bradshaw" worked and subsequently was indicted on a charge of embezzling $300. It was on this charge Violet appeared in court yesterday.

Questioned about the embezzlement, she said:

"My mother is sick. She is 65 and is losing her eyesight and has diabetes. To help pay the doctor bills (and her deceased) father's bills—I was helping pay some of them off—that I took the money."

About four years ago, Violet told newsmen, she met Vera and rented a room from her. She continued: "I roomed at her house. I paid my way and she paid hers. It was strictly on a business basis."

"Vera has two children by a previous marriage. There was a lot of talk about her losing the kids if I continued living there and so we got married. I did it to keep her from losing her kids. I didn't know it would go this far or I never would have done it."

"She began to mistrust me. She asked me, among other things, why I didn't shave."

Then, turning to the future, Violet said:

"I gave up the idea of having a home of my own. . . . of a family of my own. Families are all right for some people. I don't want to be tied down."

"When I got out of here, I'm going back home. In my hometown, I still can wear men's clothes. I will give my right name from now on."

Dishwasher Admits Slaying Author, Wife

NEW YORK (AP)—Defiantly shouting "I killed two Communists, I ought to get a medal," ex-dishwasher Harry Weinberg, a former mental patient, was taken to police headquarters today for formal arraignment as the slayer of Maxwell Bodenheim and the eccentric poet-author's third wife.

Captured yesterday about a mile from the slaying scene, 25-year-old Harold Weinberg at first told conflicting stories.

He first said he killed the 58-year-old Bodenheim, but the one-time literary great had killed his wife, the former Ruth Fag, 35. Then he denied both killings. Then he said he killed Bodenheim because the latter raised a drunken row in his room. Once Weinberg said he tried to make love to the woman and Bodenheim fought him. And several times he repeated the phrase: "Maybe there was somebody under the bed."

After 10 hours of questioning, police announced last night that Weinberg had signed a written statement admitting both murders. He was smiling and unconcerned at his booking.

The bodies of the couple were found Sunday in a dingy lower East Side room rented by Weinberg. Bodenheim, a literary figure of the 1920s and 30s, was shot to death. His wife's body bore numerous stab wounds.

Bodenheim was buried yesterday in Emerson, N. J. There was a funeral party of 10, including his first wife Minna, their 30-year-old son Solbert, who made final arrangements, and some unidentified friends from Greenwich Village.

Tribunal Hears Axle Tax Case

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three federal court judges today began hearing a petition attacking the Ohio axle mile tax law.

The action was brought by 31 trucking firms which are opposed to paying from ½ to 2½ cents a mile on vehicles having 3 or more axles. The trucking firms say the state has the legal right to tax interstate trucking firms using its highways, but claim the axle mile law is unconstitutional because of its excessive nature.

McCarthy Rips Into Democrats For 'Treason'

Jenner Says He Only 'Reciting Facts' In Lincoln Day Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh claims that Democrats have consorted with Communists indicated today that President Eisenhower's advice to Republicans to soften their political blows is being ignored.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) repeated his claim that the Democrats had given the nation "20 years of treason." Sen. Jenner (Ind.) said he was "only reciting the facts" and intended to continue to do so.

And Sen. Butler (R-Md.) repeated that previous Democratic administrations were to blame for the Communist capture of China.

McCarthy declared he would not change his tactics.

"The price is too high," he told a Lincoln Day audience in San Mateo, Calif., last night. Referring to the Democrats, he declared that "we can't whitewash them or we would be guilty of a crime worse than theirs."

Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell of the Democratic National Committee said in Portland, Ore., that Eisenhower did not go far enough when he said he would advise his official family to avoid extreme partisanship.

Eisenhower said the times are too serious for such partisanship.

SEN. MONROE (D - Okla.) said the President "failed to meet the issue." He said, "We don't mind the extreme partisanship, but it is the extreme treason" which he said some GOP speakers have been attributing to Democrats.

The President told his news conference yesterday he cheerfully admits he needs Democratic support for some parts of his legislative program, and he added he expected the Republican National Committee to show tolerance. The committee finances such trips as McCarthys.

In his Lincoln Day talk, Jenner made no reference to the President's remarks but he said: "Don't let anyone tell you communism will not be an issue in (Continued on Page Two)"

Toledo Area Labor Surplus Said Critical

TOLEDO (AP)—With about 6,500 persons out of work, this glass, automotive and electrical center has been designated as a critical surplus labor area.

A Labor Department announcement from Washington yesterday, declaring the Toledo area critical, set unemployment at 8.6 of those covered by the unemployment compensation act.

The announcement said the city's non-farm working force was 156,000 in mid-January, down 13,000 from a year ago.

A "critical" designation had been asked for Toledo so the city's industries could compete for defense contracts set aside by the government for areas having at least six per cent of their workers jobless.

Included in the Toledo area are Lucas County and the township of Rossford in Wood County. Unemployment figures cited by the Labor Department were attributed to a survey by the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment compensation. The announcement said:

"Employment in the Toledo area continued to trend downward during the closing weeks of January, after particularly sharp reductions had cut area payrolls by more than 6,000 between mid-November and mid-January."

"At its current level, unemployment represents nearly nine per cent of the area's labor force, indicating that close to one of every 11 area workers were unemployed at the end of January."

vite hesitant French parliamentarians—pegging their opposition to traditional French fears of a revival of German militarism—to delay yet more months on EDC.

And in such an interval, a rising impatience could be expected in the U. S. Congress, which votes the funds that have backboned Western defense.

Molotov got his answer from Britain and France in perhaps the most dramatic hour of the Big Four conference. Indirectly, it was an answer also to warnings by Secretary of State Dulles that the United States will get out of European affairs if Europe so desires. Bidault and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, facing Molotov across the conference table, called on the United States to stay in Europe. They said Britain and France choose to remain in NATO, of which the United States is the cornerstone.

G. M. Meyers Is Named Cashier

At the regular meeting this week of the board of directors of the Second National Bank, George M. Meyers, assistant cashier, was named cashier of the bank.

Durward D. Dowden, president of the bank, announced the selection of Meyers to succeed C. Ray Barnhart, Jr., who is resigning his position Feb. 28 to accept a position with a Columbus grain firm.

Meyers came to the bank in 1949 and has been serving in the capacity of assistant cashier and manager of the BancPlan Loan department.

Meyers is active in civic affairs and is now serving as treasurer of the Forest Cemetery Association, and as treasurer of the Pickaway County Chapter, National Foundation of Infantile Paralysis. He is a past president of the Circleville Lions Club and a veteran of World War II. The Meyers family residence is at 130 Seyfert Ave.

Other officers of the bank under Dowden are: Joseph P. Noecker, vice president, and Eugene Wilson, assistant cashier.

The burglaries were committed in Dayton, Middletown, Columbus and Hamilton in recent months and about 60 per cent of the loot has been recovered, police said.

McCarthy Rips Into Democrats For 'Treason'

(Continued from Page One) the coming campaign. It must and will continue to be until we get the rats out of government."

Eisenhower said a few weeks ago he hopes that any fear of Reds "actively undermining" the government will have vanished by November's elections.

Jenner told his audience that while Americans were fighting in Korea, "their victory was being thrown away by men high in the (Truman) administration who were friends or allies or willing appeasers of the Soviet destroyers."

Both he and McCarthy were speaking under auspices of the Republican National Committee.

IN PARKERSBURG, W. Va.,

Butler declared that "China need never have fallen." He blamed Harry Dexter White, described as a spy by Atty. Gen. Brownell, and others for decisions he said delayed for four years air voted by Congress to the Nationalists in 1942.

WHILE SOME Democrats in Congress applauded Eisenhower's remarks, Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) said, too, that the President didn't go far enough.

"I don't believe President Eisenhower has been a party to the campaign of calumny that has developed but unless he repudiates it definitely, he must share part of the blame for it," Gillette said.

Sen. George (D-Ga) said while the general public is going to charge Eisenhower with responsibility for the "treason" charges, "it will be far beyond his power to control and direct what some of these Republicans say."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga) said he isn't kidding himself that Republicans are going to quit criticizing the Democrats, even though they must have Democratic votes to get any major measures approved.

"But I deplore this blanket indictment of the patriotism of members of either political party—it's poor ethics," Russell said.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic leader, said the President has expressed the attitude "of a gentleman and an American."

Ohio Mother Gets Cake To GI Son

U.L.M. Germany (U—) Mrs. Helen Kiste of Coshocton, Ohio, wanted to give her son, Thomas, who is stationed with the Army here, a birthday cake on his 21st birthday. She knew a cake would never stand the trip from Ohio to Germany, but she also knew the name of her son's mess steward. So she wrote the steward a letter, asking if he could possibly bake a cake and present it to her son.

The mess steward baked a big coconut cake, put 21 candles on it, and presented it to Thomas during field maneuvers.

Federal Controls On Coffee Nearing

WASHINGTON (U—) Rep. Angell (R-Ore) said today he will ask early House action on a bill to impose government controls over speculation trading in coffee.

Without a record vote or debate, the Senate voiced approval of the measure yesterday, apparently reflecting nationwide concern over recent increases in coffee prices.

Angell said he believes government regulation "would control any price fixing in coffee."

Oak Wilt Disease Said Conquered

MEMPHIS (U—) S. M. Nickey Jr., chairman of the National Oak Wilt Research Committee, says the lumber industry now can control the disease, most dangerous America's forests have ever known.

By last year the disease had entrenched itself in Ohio and more than 17 other states. Control methods, Nickey says can reduce the troops was within nine miles or less of the town, screening the advance of the rebel regulars of Vietnam Division 308, but so far had not opened an attack.

The main force of the division, diverted last week from the siege of Dien Bien Phu for the thrust into Laos from north Viet Nam, had advanced 19 miles in 24 hours. At that pace, it was only two days' march from Luang Prabang.

French Union briefing officers said the objective of the Communist-led forces had not been ascertained. The division was withdrawn from the mountains around Dien Bien Phu, leaving others to maintain pressure, when the rebels found that stronghold heavily fortified, by the French.

THE GARRISON of Luang Prabang has been reinforced in the last few days. Military observers speculated that any assault might not come before early next week.

Aside from the palaces of the King and Crown Prince Savang, the town is a collection of frail wooden buildings and huts. It lies on the Mekong River. The Hou, on which the rebel division massed, flows into the Mekong north of the town. A jungle path leads 135 miles southward to Vientiane, the administrative capital of Laos.

Luang Prabang has little strategic value, but the Reds could make much propaganda in South-east Asia if they could seize it and capture the King or his son.

Surplus Giveaway Urged By Senator

WASHINGTON (U—) Sen. Aiken (R-Vt) has suggested that the government consider using surplus food and farm products to encourage Communist satellites to break with Soviet Russia.

"I believe that donations of corn and other food surpluses helped Yugoslavia carry out its break with the Kremlin," Aiken, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said.

Administration officials are currently seeking some way to dispose, at not too great a loss, of $6 billion worth of farm products piled up under government farm price support programs.

Hashmall's Term Upheld, But Cut

COLUMBUS (U—) The Ohio Supreme Court has upheld the conviction of Frank Hashmall, self-styled Communist, on two counts of false registration of a car in Akron. The court, however, cut his sentence in half.

Hashmall was sentenced to consecutive terms of six months to five years by the Summit County Common Pleas Court. The Supreme Court said the trial court abused its discretion in imposing consecutive sentences and directed they be served concurrently.

Solon Pressing For Ohio Airport

WASHINGTON (U—) Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) urges southern Ohioans to "keep up their fight" for an airport near the atomic plant in Pike County.

Portsmouth already has borrowed $400,000 to help finance the proposed airport, and wants that much more in matching funds from the federal government.

In a statement in the Congressional Record, Jenkins asked: "Will the government officials and the Congress tell the people of Portsmouth that the $400,000 which they have on deposit in the banks will avail them nothing?"

Cincinnati Passes City Income Tax

CINCINNATI (U—) Those who only work in Cincinnati, as well as those who live here, will have to pay a one per cent gross earnings tax for eight months beginning April 1.

Three Republican members of the City Council joined yesterday with four Charterite members to bring about a 7-2 passage of an ordinance levying the tax as a means of meeting an anticipated $7 million deficit in city funds.

It was the defeat of a 4.81 mill levy at last fall's election that brought about the threatened deficit in city funds.

New Low-Cost Homes Spark Housing Plans

Frank L. Gorsuch of Lancaster, president of Fairfield Homes, Inc., and one of the leading builders already at work in Circleville's drive for adequate housing, has announced a new line in modern, low-cost homes.

Adding new spark to the hopes for more home-building projects within the city limits, as well as the drive for still more housing in areas marked for annexation north of the corporation, Gorsuch disclosed details of the Cadet line, featured by the National Homes Corp. of Indiana.

The Cadet line, heralded as private enterprise's answer to the call for low cost, quality-built homes, is a group of complete homes produced expressly for the average working man and young married couple. A two-bedroom Cadet, including an $800 lot, will sell for $5,650, with $350 down and approximately $37 a month. A four-bedroom model will be sold for $6,250, including an $800 lot, and will require $550 down with approximately $39 a month.

The mortgage term of 30 years makes the Cadet line well within the reach of anybody making $45 a week, Gorsuch said.

THE CADETS, in spite of their low cost, he added, contain the same high quality materials used in National Homes for more than a decade. The Cadet line is an entirely new conception of prefabricating houses and incorporates many features found elsewhere in extremely costly dwellings.

The houses feature the open beam construction that has become one of America's most popular house styles. The low pitched roof with wide overhang on both front and rear, a new grooved wood siding and huge picture window are all incorporated to give the houses an attractive low rambling appearance.

Floor plans have been carefully designed to save many steps and features the open plan living that has become widely popular in current years.

Fireman Heard In Murder Trial

MANSFIELD (U—) A Mansfield fire captain today testified he smelled "petroleum based fluid or oil of some kind" in the charred room where he found the body of Mrs. Leah Sternbaum Dec. 4, 1952.

Fire Capt. Clarence Hall, a state witness in the first-degree murder trial of E. Max Sternbaum, testified on the report he submitted following the fire in the Sternbaum Supermarket office.

Sternbaum is charged with killing his wife Leah and with setting fire to the small office building.

HANDCUFFED to a policeman, underworld figure Joe Adonis is led from Bergen county courthouse, Hackensack, N. J., after being sentenced conditionally to a 2-3-year term in prison and fined $4,000 for lying to a grand jury about his place of birth. Superior Court Judge Lester Drenk said the sentence would be suspended if the federal government succeeds in deporting Adonis to his native Italy. (International)

Mrs. Wilson Hurt In Fall

Mrs. Carl L. Wilson, wife of Rev. C. L. Wilson, pastor of the First Evangelical United Brethren Church, was recovering Thursday in Berger hospital from injuries suffered in a fall.

Hospital attaches said Mrs. Wilson suffered a fracture of the right foot which struck a stump as she and her husband were about to get into their automobile. Their car was parked on E. Mill St. directly opposite the Calvary EUB Church where the Rev. and Mrs. Wilson had attended services.

The accident occurred shortly before 11 p. m. and Mrs. Wilson was taken to Berger hospital in the Defenbaugh ambulance.

Raceway Chief Snubs State Aides

CLEVELAND (U—) Declaring "will not be made a political football," the president of Cleveland Raceways, Inc., refused yesterday to show company records to state auditor's office examiners.

Cleveland Raceways operates Thistle Down and Cranwood Tracks. Its president, Henry S. Gottfried, told the examiners: "Show me your legal authority to pry into my business and I'll turn the books over to you."

State Auditor James A. Rhodes, Republican candidate for governor, has charged "hoodlum" infiltration into Ohio racing.

"We have filed all the information that is required of us with the Ohio Racing Commission," Gottfried told the examiners. "Gottfried would give us dates if there were anything wrong?"

Weekly Food Review

By Associated Press

The chicken will head the bargain parade at the nation's food stores this weekend, reports from over the country indicate.

Chicken prices, already reasonable, will be cut by two to as much as six cents a pound in many stores. The reason is that the number of fowls coming to market is well above normal for this time of year.

There'll be other worthwhile buys, too. A long list of stores will feature sirloin, porterhouse and round steak. Chuck roast will be another favorite. There won't be much change in rib roast prices.

Pork chop prices will be down two to six cents a pound in numerous markets. Leg of lamb prices will be much the same as a week ago, although some stores will feature it, along with lamb chops.

The best buys in produce this week will be potatoes, onions, storage cabbage, broccoli and iceberg lettuce, the experts say. Among

Hookey-Players Make Mistake

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Four junior high school youngsters cooked up excuses to get out of school for a fishing excursion yesterday.

The fish weren't biting so they went to town. Wandering aimlessly, they ended up on the third floor of the municipal auditorium.

For some excitement they dropped water-filled balloons on several pedestrians in the street below.

It was a bad mistake. The window from which they were operating was in full view of police headquarters. Juvenile officers C. W. Pierce and C. B. Mead interrupted the prank, took the boys to headquarters and called their parents.

Resignation Said Made Incorrectly

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—Gov. Conrad Lessarley of Zuni Pueblo, 28 miles south of here, has submitted his resignation, but tribal councilmen complain he hasn't done it in the accepted manner.

Lessarley left the pueblo recently to take a job as a native guide on Santa Fe Railway trains through the picturesque Indian country between Gallup and Raton.

But Leo Quetewke, teniente or head councilman, says Lessarley should have turned over a cane, given the Zunis in 1863 by President Lincoln, to the lieutenant governor.

Parking Meter Mystery Solved

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—An unidentified woman called the traffic bureau here yesterday and reported she had parked her car where there wasn't a meter and when she returned she found both a meter and a parking ticket.

Skeptical officials investigated and discovered that, sure enough, meters had been put up on that block while the car was parked.

A policeman who passed by after the new meters were installed had given her a ticket.

She was excused from paying a parking fine because of "extenuating circumstances."

Businessmen Hope Everyone Loves Everyone

Valentine Season
Finds U.S. Merchants
Oozing With Kindness

NEW YORK (AP)—"Love is in the air," carols an Indianapolis store today in its windows filled with Valentine pretties.

"Win his heart with home bar accessories," a New York hardware merchant chimes in.

"Show her your affection with a diamond platinum heart," pleads a New York jeweler — price $5.175. That's affection? What price love?

And a Fifth Avenue store builds a window display around zebra undies nestling in out-size hearts.

Merchants around the land echo this amiable hope that love will fill the hearts of the nation this week as never before—and move a wide variety of articles from the stores to the object of your affections.

That loving impulse couldn't be more welcome than this year when so many are a little unsure as to the trend of sales in general.

Greeting card makers appear confident that this will be their biggest Valentine season. They predict some 300 million cards will be exchanged. That could mean that every American old enough to read and write would send one and get one.

Florists always find the patron saint of lovers a big aid to sales.

The telephone and telegraph companies count on business from those separated by the miles, or by those who forget until the last minute.

Candy makers are stuffing heart-shaped boxes with sweets and hoping this year, in spite of the high price of chocolate, will see their biggest sales volume. If a swain is in the chips he can pay as high as $35 for a box.

Heart-shaped bottles are being filled with perfume. And this year a California vineyard is jousting similar bottles for sherry and port.

A New York delicatessen has heart shaped salami, just in case that's the direction your affection takes.

A Chicago store reports that Valentine promotions on lingerie have been bringing in a lot of customers.

A South Bend, Ind., shop reports the same for women's blouses, but fails to state whether the sales were to women taking advantage of price mark-downs or to their admirers who think a new blouse might perk up the girls a little.

Hosiery and gloves are also being pushed as fitting gifts.

The men aren't forgotten. "Give your beau a pink-and-black shirt and socks ensemble," a merchant

DECLARING that "now when a person gives a buck he expects $15,000 worth of entertainment in exchange," Hollywood actor Ronald Reagan warns that free benefit performances by Movie-town personalities have reached the "saturation point." He urged action. (International)

3 Girls Curtailed In $1 Adventure

ZANESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Judy Eisen, 13, her sister Linda, 12, and Marian Dempsey, 13, all of Dayton, made up their minds to travel and gathered their total resources—$1. They were tired of baby-sitting and wanted to see the world they said.

They set out for "either Pennsylvania or West Virginia." They began hitchhiking and got as far as nearby Mt. Sterling without trouble.

Bayne Bernier, a Hartford, Conn., truck driver, picked them up there and drove them to the Zanesville police station.

"He certainly did us a dirty trick," the youngsters told police.

counsels the girls. Necktie makers plug their wares as a surprise gift for a male who by now may have got over the shock of his Christmas cravat. Jumbo-sized cuff links will bowl him over February 14, a jeweler's trade group is confident.

And an imposing number of merchants apparently have decided this is a good week for their ads to feature convertible love seats.

VALENTINE'S DAY

THOSE WHO ARE sending a valentine this Valentine's Day are following a custom that is centuries old.

The original valentines, a fact almost forgotten today, were strictly tokens of friendship for more than 1,000 years. They were sent to commemorate the kindly spirit of St. Valentine, a young Roman priest executed on February 14 in the year 270 A. D., for refusing to renounce Christianity.

Medieval sweethearts began exchanging romantic valentines around 1400. These early creations were designed with quill pen, pastepot, and great expectations.

Cupid's more talented victims peppered their valentines with amorous scenes neatly drawn in black and white. Later they were made by folding paper and cutting it into very intricate and lacy patterns, which were carefully hand colored.

By the Seventeenth Century, the valentine custom had spread throughout Europe. The style shifted to elaborate ornamentation. Rich noblemen bedecked their valentines with expensive jewels, and hired ghost writers to pen impassioned rhymes.

In the lower-income brackets, love-plagued swains spent weary hours decorating valentines with turtle doves, pressed flowers, silk ribbons and cut-out hearts. England solved verse-writing problems for a scribe by publishing the first "Valentine Writer" in 1640.

As the Nineteenth Century began, English publishers were already selling elegantly printed valentines. The competition among professional designers was keen, and clever innovations quickly followed. One unusual valentine pictured a gaily-colored floral bouquet that opened, like an accordion, into what resembled a "flower cage" or "spider web." Inside this screen a tiny cupid and verse appeared.

Mechanical valentines were introduced in the 1840s. They featured movable figures, easily animated by a cardboard tongue. Some would picture a tiny cottage or village church, with sides that opened to reveal a happy domestic scene or wedding ceremony.

This was the so-called "Golden Age of Valentines." In frills and fuss, the valentines of the period from 1830 to 1860 reached a peak of perfection and beauty.

As the century wore on, humorous valentines became fashionable, and still are. The 1954 valentines are about evenly divided between the whimsical type and those created in the lace-and-ribbon tradition.

National death rate last year was less than 10 per thousand of population, reflecting the disappearance of the pedestrian.

These Days

As a phase of the American policy in Asia, the United States has been conducting negotiations with Pakistan for military bases in that country. If a line of such bases can be established in Pakistan, Iran, Iraq and Turkey, the American position in Asia will be strengthened. In some instances, these bases will not house American troops but will amount to financial aid for military purposes. Turkey has already proved to be a strong ally and Iran and other Moslem states are likely to strengthen the American bastion.

So the Russians have been conducting a strong propaganda against this activity of the United States and have put pressure on Communist and neutralist countries to protest to Pakistan against such an arrangement. And now the Russians are conducting a campaign to separate Great Britain and the United States over the Pakistan Agreement. The Moscow Radio, in a discussion of this subject for home consumption, had its commentator say:

"In foisting on Pakistan a military agreement and by supplying arms, the United States is nurturing far-reaching plans aimed at undermining Britain's influence and at establishing its own control over the Pakistan Armed Forces, economy, and political life. These plans are being openly discussed on the pages of the U. S. press. . . By dragging Pakistan into the orbit of its influence, the United States is trying to drive yet another wedge into the edifice of the British Empire, to weaken still more its foundations, and to diminish Britain's influence. The 'Times of Ceylon' expressed grave concern by saying that the U. S.-Pakistan military agreement would affect traditional relations among the countries of the British Commonwealth."

"This anxiety is all the more well based in that there have already been intimations in the press concerning Pakistan's eventual withdrawal from the British Empire. It is, therefore, far from being fortuitous that U. S. diplomats conducted negotiations with Pakistan behind Britain's back. According to the 'Pakistan Times' a spokesman of the British Commonwealth Relations Office admitted that neither Washington nor Karachi informed London about these talks."

Obviously, the defense plans of the free world are part of a general plan to limit the expansion of Soviet Russia as a universal state. NATO, the agreements with Spain, Greece and Turkey, the building of air bases in Africa, and the present negotiations with the Moslem states, including Pakistan, cannot possibly be unknown to our allies. They must have been discussed at the various meetings of NATO. Naturally, little can be said on the subject during periods of negotiation or given out afterwards. Although the Russians have succeeded in stealing many of our secrets, we must continue to assume that some matters can remain secret.

Pakistan is a member of the British Commonwealth. It is not a British colony. It came into existence as an independent, sovereign state as a result of the independence of India, from which it was separated by partition. A Moslem country, it is more likely than India to be antagonistic to the Marxist Church because no Moslem can accept an atheistic, materialistic concept of life.

DIET AND HEALTH

Alcohol Used as a Medicine

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

SINCE the sixteenth century, it has been known that certain alcohol concoctions were helpful in relieving and preventing a type of heart pain known as angina pectoris.

Chest and Arm Pain

In this disease, the patient may suddenly have a severe pain in the chest which travels down his left arm for a short time. He will usually have an ashen color to his skin when he suffers this attack. Until a short time ago, scientists believed that the action of the alcohol was in the brain and acted as a sedative in relieving the pain, but actually did not alter the attack. However, new theories have replaced this belief. Alcohol does not have any effect on the blood pressure or pulse and, of course, alcoholic beverages in large amounts can depress the heart's action.

Artery Size Increased

Many heart specialists now agree that the heart arteries are increased in size by moderate doses of alcohol which thus may be of great help in treating angina. Experiments were conducted to see if certain types of alcohol have a greater effect in increasing the amount of blood flow to the heart arteries.

Aged in Oak Containers

It was found that the beverages that were aged in oak containers, and therefore contained some tannin and other oakwood products, produced an increased blood flow to the heart arteries. The increase was sometimes as great as 10 to 25 per cent.

A good example of this type of alcohol is fine champagne. It was found that cognac greatly increased the blood flow to the heart. Certain types of brandy that were stored in oak barrels also had a very excellent effect. The amount of aromatic substances definitely caused the effect of the alcohol.

Of course, the physician should always be consulted as to whether or not alcoholic beverages should be used.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

Mr. S. T.: What causes the skin to crack around the nails on the hands, especially the index finger?

Answer: This is most often due to a form of irritation which may be caused by the use of some type of soap or detergent.

CHAPTER THIRTY FIVE

DALE flung herself down beside her grandfather, her face on his knees, suddenly and deeply ashamed of the weeks of withdrawal.

His gnarled hand stroking her hair was forgiveness and a benediction. "Had to fight it through yourself, didn't you?" he murmured.

Yes, everyone did. Nothing is more profusely given than advice, and nothing so difficult to accept. Grandy, Phil, Aggie—they could have talked themselves blue in the face, Dale thought. I had to see it for myself. The final decision, to make me a person in my own right, had to be my own. Otherwise, I'd never have been reconciled to Grandy's "Go!" I'd never have quite stopped fighting him.

Without lifting her face, she said, "I saw Armorer. I went into her house."

The stroking rhythm of his hand was momentarily broken, and then soothingly resumed. Dale knew he wouldn't ask what she'd found there. He knew about Armorer's shadow world. He said, "Have you had your supper?"

She shook her head. "I forgot to eat."

"We had chicken," he said. "Could be there's a leg in the refrigerator. Company we expected didn't come."

Dale's head came up sharply. "Company?"

His answer was elaborately casual. "That young man of yours—Farrish? We're going fishing tomorrow."

"But you've never liked to fish!"

"Isn't that I don't like it, right?" he explained. "It's just, in seventy-odd years, I've seen everything that swims and swishes fished out of this lake. But folks keep on trying. I've seen 'em sit for hours, trolling out there. Go home at night with no fish, but happy. There's something about a spell of fishin' that's good for a man's soul."

She jumped up. "Phil's coming tonight?"

He nodded. "Said he'd be here in time for supper. Must've been detained, somewhere—but he'll get here."

By midnight her grandparents had given up expecting Phil before morning, but Dale, as she lay in bed, continued listening with drowsy eagerness for his coming. Through the upper pane of the window she could see an impudent pink star between the horns of the new moon. The night was still, save for the bark of a dog somewhere, and the faint nostalgic tinkle of a cowbell. She heard a car coming toward the lake from the village, waited in suspended excitement—and then sighed, as the car went on without making the right-hand turn. Soon she thought, it would be too cold for lovers to drive out on the dock and park on moonlit nights.

She lay quite still, warmed with the thought that her own lonely nights would soon be over.

Clangor cut the thread of her thoughts, and split the night's peace. Bells, a tuneless carillon of urgency. Every bell in the village was ringing. The school, both churches, without rhythm or harmony. It meant only one thing, at this time of night. Fire. Dale sat up. Until the up-to-date equipment arrived from town, fire in Swanscombe was fought by a voluntary bucket brigade, summoned by the bells.

The night was overflowing, now, with the stridency of sound. Grandy, an ex-member of the bucket brigade, was downstairs on the telephone. Dale heard the outer door slam. Surely Grandy, at his age, wasn't going; he'd only be in the way of the able-bodied workers—

Dale was belting her robe and tumbling for her slippers when her grandmother came into the room.

Other sounds undertoned the bells, now. Near by, and confused, a steady oncoming roll of car tires on gravel. Voices; shouts . . . "Grandmother," Dale cried, "where is the fire?"

But she knew. Even before she ran to the window and looked out, Dale knew. She clung dazedly to the window sill. If she let go, if she moved, she'd fall—

Smoke engulfed the cottage, rose above it pinkly in a thick cloud pierced with flame-spears. Above the crackling rose the shouts of men, who darted back and forth, grimly, stubbornly fighting. And futilely. For it was hopeless, Dale saw. Their efforts were Lilliputian.

Tears streamed down her face. She turned at last, her voice gray with bleakness. "I can't do anything at all, can I?"

news behind the news

WASHINGTON — The Jenner Security Committee's next exposure of alleged Communist influence and infiltration at Washington will be an attempt to depict F. D. R. as too tolerant and charitable toward Moscow conspiracies in the midst of World War II. It may be a more sensational drama than Harry S. Truman's handling of the Harry Dexter White spy ring.

Sen. William E. Jenner of Indiana, committee chairman, revealed the essentials of the story in a recent speech. Two of those from whom information was expected remained silent or refused to remember the details. The first was Admiral Ernest W. King, wartime chief of staff to F. D. R. The second was Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, heroic and salty seadog in naval warfare in the Pacific.

Finally, Jenner was not giving sworn testimony. He appeared in a partisan role. Now, he will try to prove that he was not talking through his political hat, and the chances are that he will succeed.

WITNESS—Jenner's key witness will be the brilliant Robert Morris, who won a reputation as a paint-taking investigator in Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's crime-busting crusade, and more recently as counsel to the Jenner committee. For reward, he was made a New York judge a few weeks ago.

According to Jenner's premature version, which he obviously got from Morris, F. D. R. or somebody acting for him disbanded a naval intelligence section in 1944 when they were about to penetrate and break a Communist spy conspiracy against the United States. Somebody also ordered the destruction of all naval intelligence files on our supposed ally's operations against us.

Morris was a member of the naval intelligence group in New York City. He had been told that Victor Kravchenko, a Russian purchasing official, was eager to tell how the Reds' purchasing personnel were capitalizing on their lend-lease privileges to spy on our industrial and military setup. Kravchenko later wrote a bitter anti-Russian book entitled, "I Chose Freedom."

INSTRUCTIONS — When Morris' superior asked Washington for authority to question Kravchenko, he was ordered to "leave Kravchenko alone." Soon thereafter, the New York Naval Intelligence Section was "scattered to the four winds" by orders from the Pentagon. Morris was exiled to Pearl Harbor, where he told his amazing story to Admiral Nimitz. The latter expressed his disbelief.

When Admiral King visited Pearl Harbor on an inspection trip, Nimitz questioned F. D. R.'s personal military adviser about the incident. Admiral King, according to the Jenner-Morris account, confirmed the story, and said that the "White House" was responsible for halting the investigation, destroying the Naval Intelligence files and disciplining the overzealous investigators.

CONFIRMATION—Judge Morris, under oath, is expected to confirm the Jenner revelations at committee hearings. Otherwise, he would not be scheduled as the first witness in the new act of the Communist drama.

Other members of the disbanded naval intelligence section are expected to corroborate his testimony, for the Jenner committee, unlike certain other Capitol Hill investigators, carefully checks its facts through prior questioning of prospective witnesses before opening fire. And then, as four-star witnesses, King and Nimitz will be placed on the stand under oath.

OTHER CHARGES — In a certain sense, confirmation of this almost unbelievable event would be more damning than any previous evidence of Roosevelt-Truman trust in the Kremlin. It would dwarf Truman's promotion of Communist agents and sympathizers after he had been warned against them by the FBI.

If F. D. R. had secretly divulged the 1944 spying operations to his Cabinet at that time, and if he had taken the then Vice-President Truman into his confidence, our government would have been forewarned against postwar Red machinations. We might have prevented the Russians from grabbing Eastern Europe and China.

We certainly would not have broken up our military machine, while Stalin strengthened his forces of conquest and kept not a single pledge he had given to F. D. R. and Truman. And we might not now be spending $50 billion a year to prove that the Communists are as untrustworthy as Morris and his group found them to be 10 years ago, only to be reprimanded for their pains.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Western foreign ministers have been waltzing in circles with the Russian bear. It has been a dull dance. Suddenly Russia tries to quicken the music to a foxtrot, with the bear playing the fox.

But this fox is as clumsy as the bear.

For almost three weeks Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov has been meeting in Berlin with the three Western ministers: the United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault.

There was no progress, nothing new. The four ministers acted like men reciting lines they had long since memorized, as they had. Both sides took their positions years ago. They restated them at Berlin.

Then suddenly, in a change of pace, Molotov unveiled a new plan, Russian-style, which was the old plan really, but in fresh dressing: a plan for European peace.

Reports from Berlin said at one point Molotov himself had to laugh at what he was saying.

This was his plan: The United States would have to clear out of Europe. And her allies in the Atlantic Pact would have to give it up.

(Russia had been trying for years to get the United States out of Europe. And for years it had been trying to break up the Atlantic Pact under which the Allies pledge to help each other if Russia attacks one of them.)

With the Atlantic Pact out of the way, all the European countries would make a pact of their own, pledging to help one another in case of attack on any of them.

(But this would leave Russia and her satellites the military masters of the continent. The rest of Europe couldn't stop an attack without United States help if Russia broke the new pact.)

(In fact the West Europeans, without help from the United States couldn't even arm themselves well enough to stop a Russian attack now.)

This was a pretty thin plan. But Molotov cut it thinner. He would let East and West Germany unite, but in such a way that the German Communists could take over.

There was more, but that gives a general idea of the plan. Molotov dumped on the conference table, Dulles, Eden and Bidault picked it up and handed it back to him.

Although there has been no progress in the conference there has been an air of amiability about it which may seem to some a sign that over a long time maybe the two sides will get closer together.

There is another view: if both sides appear a little relaxed it's because both know precisely what they want and, being strong, see no reason for yielding an inch, since an inch today may be the fatal margin tomorrow.

Germany is a good example. Under the Russian plan for reunifying Germany, Communists could take

Union Veteran Gets Card From Ike On 107th Birthday

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—A letter of congratulations from President Eisenhower was tucked in among the hundreds of cards and messages that arrived today at the home of chipper, old Albert Woolson, last survivor of the Union Army of the Civil War.

The veteran was celebrating his 107th birthday today. The message from the President read: "My warm congratulations go to you on your 107th birthday. As America's veteran of the Grand Army of the Republic you have special cause for pride and for national recognition on this significant anniversary. I send you my best wishes for your continued health and happiness."

Sitting with a large pile of cards and letters in his lap, Woolson chuckled, "I'm almost smothered in kind wishes."

Most of the states were represented among the stack of birthday messages that began arriving Wednesday. Many cards were in the childish scrawl of school youngsters. Many were from veterans' and civic organizations. Last year there were more than 8,000 such messages.

Woolson, who enjoys good health, served about a year in an artillery regiment before being mustered out in the Civil War.

His son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Kobus, live here with him.

"I'm just beginning to feel like I'm not a boy any more," said the drummer boy who considers neighbors of 70 or 80 are "old."

In a deep, booming voice Woolson told newsmen, "I have led a good moral life—the only habit I've had that some people might consider bad is smoking cigars."

As soon as darkness falls tonight on this Lake Superior port city, hundreds of school children and residents will gather in front of Woolson's home to serenade him. The high school band will play and there will be a Paul Bunyan-sized cake from which Woolson will get the first piece.

The songs and band music will not be audible to the old veteran, who has lost his hearing. But Woolson, who "enjoys people so much" will get the meaning of the serenade.

"God bless you," he told early birthday callers. "It was so nice of you to come."

'Joe' Giovanni Is Tremendous Artist; Now 'Selling' Opera

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—At 68 many men and women feel they are through.
But at 68 Giovanni Martinelli, one of the great voices of our century, began a bright new career as a salesman.
He now sells what he used to sing—opera.
"I am a bridge now," he said, "a bridge of explanation."
It is really his greatest role. In his lifetime as one of the finest tenors within living memory he estimates he has sung to some 7,000 audiences around the world.
Today, each Sunday, he capsules in "Opera Cameo," a television network feature, the plots of operas he used to sing himself. His job is to explain what the vocal artists are yodeling about.
Giovanni, sometimes called Joe, was and is a tremendous artist, a nice chunky guy with flaming blue eyes and a big mop of white hair. It is ironic that now he can reach more people with a conversational tone than he could in the days when he could match a high note with any man in the tenor industry. But Joe doesn't mind.
"It is enough for me that more people now love opera," he said.
Tenors are generally as jealous of each other as women. Joe may have his jealousies, but in a talk with him I couldn't discover them. He sang dramatic roles for the Metropolitan Opera for 34 consecutive years. He is comfortably sure that no school-boy will remove his honor.
"To be a singer is to be serious," Joe said. "I never smoked, I drank only enough to be comfortable with my friends—a little glass of wine."
"No, I didn't go in for gymnastics to stay fit. I cannot say I love sports, because I do not. But I like to walk, and every day I walk."
"I learned another thing in the 40 years I sang—never to walk my worries home. Singing is a very difficult career. It must be realized, if one is to enjoy this world, that its pleasures must be enjoyed parsimoniously. They must be disciplined."
When I asked Joe who he thought was the greatest singer he had knowledge of, he named the only man I have never heard

Public Given Reminder On Cleanup Time

Glancing at the calendar and with recent weather in mind, Fire Chief Talmer Wise suggested Thursday that a preliminary survey in almost any household will line things up for the traditional spring cleaning, and reduce fire hazards.
He urged at least a critical look into the basement, where 57 per cent of all home fires start.
"It's getting around to that time of year," Wise reminded the public, "when every household, factory and store owner should be planning a general cleanup on their premises. Above all, the home owners should be reminded to clean their basements of debris that has accumulated during the mid-winter months."
"This may consist of Christmas wrappings, discarded toys, paints and oils, and many other things that somehow find their way down into the average cellar. And after the basement survey is finished, take a look at the attic."
"Factory and store owners should check their wiring and the way they have stored inflammable liquids. Even in the best kept places, discarded materials and unwanted articles pile up during the winter. And this is the time to do something about it."

Driver's License Office Closed On Ten Holidays

Under a new policy announced Thursday, motorists will be unable to obtain driver's licenses in Circleville on ten different holidays.
State Highway Patrolman Bob Greene of the Columbus Patrol Post revealed the policy change, saying local offices of State Driver's Examiner Ross Hamilton will be closed on the following holidays:
Christmas, New Year's Day, Lincoln's and Washington's Birthdays, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Armistice Day, and Thanksgiving Day.
Greene stressed, however, that with those exceptions, Hamilton's office would be open as usual on Thursdays and Fridays and up to noon on Saturdays.

Democrat Chieftain Says Ike Too Lofty In Viewing Raps

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—President Eisenhower will have to use stronger language if he really expects the Republican party to tone down its campaign against Democrats, the Democratic national chairman said here last night.
"He cannot dissociate himself in a lofty way from what is clearly a deliberate campaign line which virtually his entire party leadership has adopted," Stephen A. Mitchell told Oregon Democrats at a dinner meeting.
Of the press conference yesterday in which the President advised restraint in partisanship matters, the Democratic party chairman commented:
"He said he had not seen any accusations by members of his party charging that Democrats are tinged with treason."
"Doesn't he read the papers? Doesn't he listen to the radio? Don't they tell him what his own leaders are saying?"
Mitchell made biting references to Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York; Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman; and Secretary of Commerce Weeks, and said they all had taken part in a campaign to try to discredit the Democrats' loyalty.
He called it "a ballyhoo campaign of an extraordinarily ruthless and sinister nature—a campaign to drill into the public mind a suspicion that the Democratic party is somehow the party of communism."
In part the tactic is to divert attention from adverse economic reports, Mitchell said, adding that the Republicans would have to accept responsibility both for economic conditions and for use of what he said were "unworthy" tactics.
"The secretary of commerce is the very man who has responsibility for action—yet he has all the Pollyanna optimism, all the complacency that the Republicans exuded last time when 'prosperity was just around the corner.' Ballyhoo is no substitute for leadership," Mitchell said.

Bitter Tariff Fight Goes On For 20 Years

Battle Is Resumed Before Commission In Nation's Capital

NEW YORK (AP)—The first round in this year's bitter tariff fight opened this week.

It's a grudge fight that has been going on for at least 20 years. It's over the price and origin of the new watch you'd like to buy for yourself or your child's graduation present. Or maybe the one your boss will buy for you after you've worked for him 50 years.

The tariff commission opened hearings on whether the present levy of around 37 per cent on imports of Swiss watches and watch movements should be hiked by 50 per cent.

Three American watch companies, Elgin, Hamilton and Waltham, say Swiss imports, which have mushroomed since World War II, injure their business—and by doing so are a threat to national security.

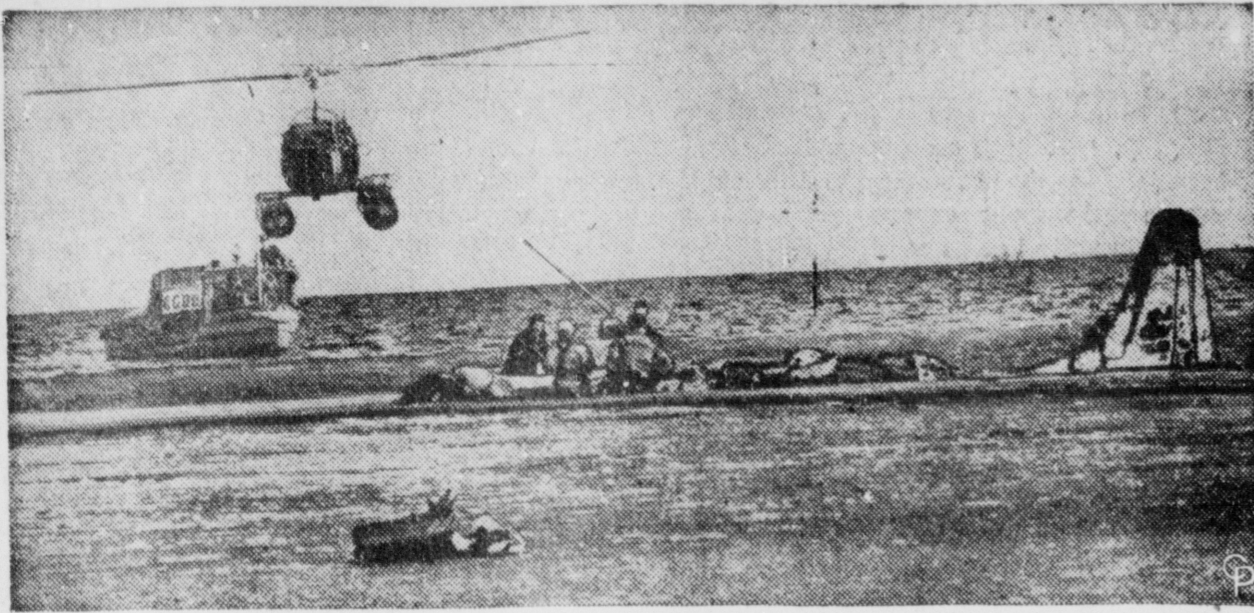

They contend only by maintaining a healthy American watch industry can watchmakers be trained, or retain their skills. In wartime these skills must be used quickly to make precise electronic devices and delicate timing devices for missiles and machines of war.

They argue they cannot compete with the Swiss, price-wise, because American skilled labor is so much more highly paid. Unless the tariff is raised they say they cannot compete and the U. S. industry, and skill, may lapse.

Opposed to these three companies are other watchmakers who depend to more or less extent on the highly developed Swiss industry.

Some of them, like Bulova and Gruen, run plants in both the United States and Switzerland.

Others, like Longines-Wittnauer and Benrus, import Swiss watches

THE CREW OF A UNITED STATES PLANE, which crashed off shore near the Kastrup Airport, Denmark, sits on an ice floe near the wreckage of their craft awaiting rescue by a helicopter. Their plane crashed on its first test flight after being overhauled, killing the pilot. Salvage Corps men in a motor launch are standing by.

Ashville

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hardin were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Fischer.

The Methodist Youth Fellowship met Sunday at the Ashville Methodist Church with Charles Trone in and movements which they assemble and distribute here.

They admit they can produce more cheaply than the Americans, but say that in real wages (the food, clothing and shelter a man can buy for what he's paid an hour) the difference between Swiss and American wage scales isn't as great as it seems.

They deny they're a threat to the American industry under present tariff levels. As an example, they point to the $10.75 duty paid on an imported 21-jewel watch, which gives the American companies a good advantage. About half of the American output lies in this field, the Swiss say.

The importers also argue their technicians in this country are highly trained, too, and furnish a big pool of skilled labor for use in wartime. They say that in the last war their defense contracts totaled 70 million dollars.

charge of devotions. Games were supervised by Larry Fullen, Gary Tedrow, and Dick Miller. Refreshments were served by Elisabeth Sark and Judith Hosler.

The Ashville Lutheran Junior Mission Band will hold a Valentine party at 1:30 Saturday at the Church.

Valentine Day will be observed in the local school with a Valentine exchange Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelby McNeal of Columbus visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Corby Bainter and family.

Mrs. Harvey Ferguson visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Neal and Billy.

Christina Wheeler visited over the weekend with her aunt and uncle, M. and Mrs. Amos Wheeler of Columbus.

Eugene Wheeler was an overnight guest Saturday with a schoolmate, Dwight Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Koch and family visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Shewalter and family at Chillicothe.

The Ashville-Lockbourne Junior Luther League met Sunday night at St. Matthew's Church, Lockbourne, with David Stuck presiding over the business meeting. A film, "Live Christ", which narrated events of the International Luther League Convention at Purdue University last Summer, was shown. Marlene Younkun was elected secretary and Carole Reed, corresponding secretary, while Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Foo: were selected as the league's advisors. Plans were made for a skating party. About 30 members and guests were present. Refreshments were served by Arnold and Ronald Kissell and Dolphina Ruff, assisted by their mothers. The next meeting will be held Sunday, February 21, at the First English Lutheran Church, Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Hudson spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hudson and sons in Cleveland.

The Ashville Methodist W.S.C.S. will entertain the Circleville W.S.C.S. Wednesday night at 8:00 at the Ashville Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey DeLong and family visited relatives in Southern Ohio over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Sark were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stebleton in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Reed and family visited friends in Groveport Sunday.

The pantheistic Hindu does not have similar inhibitions. It is possible for a Hindu to syncretize his pantheism with Marxism and thus to avoid antagonism for Soviet Russia. If anything, he can readily be neutral.

Pakistan is concerned over what seems to be a British preference for India. To most Britishers, Bombay and Calcutta do seem more important than Karachi. To suggest, however, that Pakistan will leave the British Commonwealth because of a military agreement with the United States is, at this juncture, absurd because there is no conflict of interest.

No matter what else is happening all about us, it is a primary function of our government to work out its defense plans and to make arrangements concerning them. This cannot wait for anything. It is impractical to announce the plans in advance; therefore we have to take them on faith until they go wrong. Then we are privileged to blame those who made the errors. Until then, in such matters, it is necessary to give the government blind support. Actually we have no alternative because the job has to be done and has to be done secretly. It is only to be hoped that it is being done wisely.

It would seem, from the nature of the situation, that a military alliance with Pakistan is a wise step.

Texas Vet, 107, Battles For Life

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Stout old Tom Riddle, 107, one of Texas, two surviving Confederate veterans, battled old age and a failing heart today in his greatest fight.

Since Jan. 17, the old soldier has been fighting pneumonia and doctors had said his "ardent spirit and will to get well" gave him the upper hand.

But last night, Dr. Herman Wing, medical director at the Confederate Home where Riddle has lived since 1950, said the outlook was bleak.

Defense Citing Insanity Angle

CHILLICOTHE (AP)—Defense counsel, trying to prove John Shaw, 56, was insane when he shot his stepdaughter, yesterday produced witnesses at his trial who testified an accident in 1946 changed Shaw's personality.

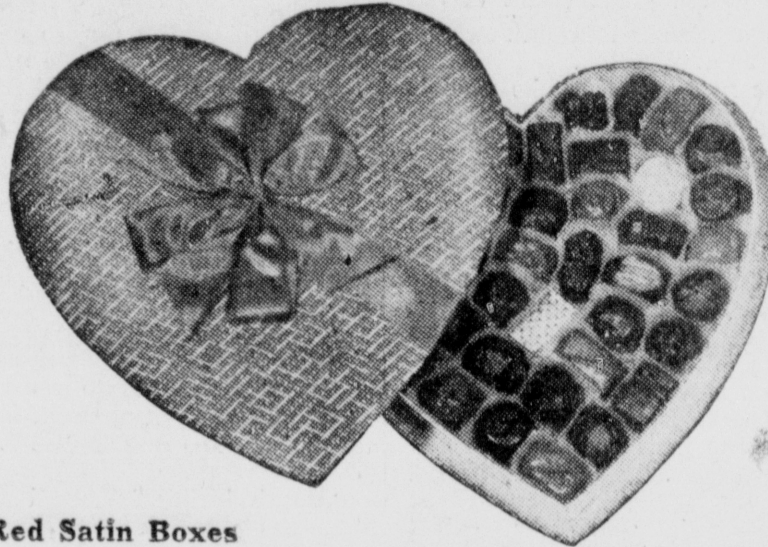

He was judged insane three months after the fatal shooting of Mrs. Dean Cox in 1952 and was sent to a mental institution. He was judged sane last in December.

Drunken Flying Costs Man $200

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—Martin Zalk, 32, wasn't able to get his four-passenger plane off the ground, but he apparently was flying pretty high anyway. Municipal Judge Leroy Kelly finned him $200 yesterday after he pleaded guilty to operating an airplane while intoxicated. Highway patrolmen arrested him Sunday when he crashed into a ditch while attempting a takeoff.

Bodenheim Slaying Marks Passing Of Bohemianism From Greenwich

NEW YORK (AP)—The slaying of Maxwell Bodenheim, a futile poet and novelist, is an epitaph to a Greenwich Village that is gone.

It is a kind of mortal farewell to a Bohemianism that died long ago, and for almost 25 years has become to the outsider a Manhattan tourist attraction. The tourists still feel they have to see Greenwich Village just as they used to visit Grant's tomb.

They go to Radio City now or visit the top of the Empire State instead of calling on Gen. Grant. But he doesn't dim the magic of some names. And so they still like to beam at the bums on the Bowery, gawk at the law-abiding chop suey dens of Chinatown that the late O. O. McIntyre pictured full of slant-eyed opium addicts and they like to go to Greenwich Village, hoping to see the mad, bad, Bohemian artists at play.

The passing of poor Max Bodenheim is only the irony of the death of a symbol. He came here out of the Chicago Literary

Freedom Brief For Escapees

ZANESVILLE (AP)—Brief freedom for two escapees from a Woodfield jail in Monroe County ended after, police said:

The pair saved their way out of jail, slid down a blanket rope from their second-floor cell, raided a tavern to get cash, stole a car that ran out of gas in Zanesville, were questioned by Zanesville police when both fled on foot. One was captured, police said, but the second one climbed into another car—only to discover he did not know how to operate the automatic transmission. Police captured him later as he fled.

The two were identified by police as Alfred J. Melott, 18, who lives near Woodfield, and Vernon Hall, 22, of Cleveland.

School, as did Ben Hecht, who coauthored "The Front Page" with Charles MacArthur, another Chicago newspaperman.

At one time they all were regarded as Midwestern Bohemians. Then the roads went different ways. MacArthur married Helen Hayes after, so the legend goes, winning her heart by holding out some peanuts and saying, "I wish they were emeralds."

But both MacArthur and Hecht went on to hit the literary jackpot. Bodenheim never became popular. His life resolved itself, according to many critics, into a victory of alcoholism over a fine talent.

He settled in Greenwich Village and became a character in an out-of-date Bohemianism. He died of a .22 caliber bullet through the chest, and the saddest and perhaps the truest thing you can say of Maxwell Bodenheim is that the guy who pulled the trigger picked the right size gun to measure his final stature as a writer. Max pulled the trigger on his own life long ago, or at least on the promise that his life held. And why he did it is his own secret, and our mystery.

John Masefield mopped a barroom floor in Greenwich Village and later became famous. Eugene O'Neill dreamed and loved and probably drank there. So did Edna Millay, Alexander Hamilton, Edgar Allan Poe, and a very eloquent living friend of mine named John Lardner, and a hundred talented others.

Greenwich Village today is one of the nicest residential communities for some of the most solidly respectable people in America. It has a few of the finest restaurants in the land. It also has a few cheap tawdry night clubs that are a disgrace to it and the people who go there for "atmosphere."

They are tearing down Mark Twain's old home to put up a big apartment house. New York University, where Thomas Wolfe taught English by day and brooded and wrote by night, is gradually ringing Washington square, the heart of Greenwich Village, and, some old-timers fear, turning it into a campus.

Real estate men say that one out of three young, eager, ambitious people who come to New York want to settle first in Greenwich Village. They seek inspiration and atmosphere, and being young, they think they can find it where other people they have heard of found these things before them.

But, accepting Greenwich Village is a symbol. Did Maxwell Bodenheim ever find it, although he came here, lived here and died here? He became a Greenwich Village character for the tourists while the real Bohemians were enjoying Park Avenue.

The lesson of Bodenheim, certainly, is that the best address for a man's inspiration is his own mind, and that the home of any true artist is always his heart, where he really lives.

Delay In Aid 'Blow' To China

ELYRIA (AP)—Timely aid to nationalist leader Chiang Kai-shek "could have saved the day" in China, Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) declared at a recent Lincoln Day Republican gathering.

Sen. Butler declared that "China need never have fallen" to the Communists in 1948, and "the present chaos in the Far East could have been avoided." He said:

"In February, 1942, the United States, recognizing a serious situation, approved 500 million dollar economic aid to China.

"But when this aid was finally made available four years later, in March of 1946, it was too late to curb the menace of communism."

5 Ohio Counties Get Surplus Food

COLUMBUS (AP)—Fifteen Ohio counties now are getting federal surplus commodity food items for general welfare purposes.

Surplus commodity program foods are handled by the state welfare department and are available on application by county relief agencies.

Victor Warken, supervisor of surplus commodities in the state welfare department, said counties now participating in the program in varying degrees include Summit, Lake, Hamilton, Champaign, Crawford, Licking, Morrow, Highland, Belmont, Allen, Auglaize, Hardin, Logan, Wyandot and Miami.

Big Crowd Expected To Witness Greenfield-Tiger Tilt Friday

One of the largest crowds to visit the new Circleville High School gymnasium since its recent dedication is expected to be on hand for Friday night's game when the powerful Greenfield cagers meet the Circleville Tigers.

Leaders of the South Central Ohio League with a 16-1 seasonal record, the Greenfield five admittedly is one of the strongest aggregations operating in the loop for several years.

However, if the local Tigers play as consistent as they have in the last few games, a real battle is shaping up, and an unusual drawing card for sports lovers throughout the area is in store.

Greenfield so far has bowed to only one adversary, Gallipolis, in a contest staged last week.

Although Circleville has won only one of six league games, most fans appear to have agreed generally in the last two weeks that the Tigers recently have been playing better than their record indicates.

Orioles Make Another Deal To Help Team

NEW YORK (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, anxious to make a good impression in the American League after an absence of 50 years, are going all out for a "new look" in 1954.

Last season, the Orioles, who were then the St. Louis Browns, finished in the cellar. Since shifting franchises, Baltimore has embarked on a trading program to improve the club's position.

Pitcher Vern Bickford was purchased by the Orioles yesterday from the Milwaukee Braves of the National League for an undisclosed sum. As part of the deal, Baltimore also sold Charles White Jr., a catcher from its San Antonio farm team, to the Braves.

This was the Orioles' second major deal in less than a week. They obtained outfielder Sam Mele and infielder Neil Berry from the Chicago White Sox last Friday in exchange for outfielder Johnny Groth and infielder Johnny Lipon.

Bickford joined the Braves at Boston in 1948. In six seasons he compiled a 66-56 won-lost record.

The 33-year-old right-hander, handicapped by a broken finger last season, won only two and lost five in 20 games, a performance way below par for him.

It was disclosed that both the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees wanted Bickford, but offered only cash for him. He was passed by the seven other National League clubs for the $10,000 waiver.

Four Friday Games On Tap

Two Pickaway County League teams travel Friday night to meet Fayette County basketball teams, while the Stoutsville Indians will be host to Berne Union in a Fairfield County League game the same evening.

In one of the Fayette County tilts, the Saltrecek Warriors will invade Good Hope.

In the other, the Jackson Wildcats journey to Madison Mills.

4 Teams Out To Impress NIT Pickers

NEW YORK (AP)—Three basketball teams which will probably ride to the National Invitation Tournament and one which would certainly like to join them offered freshened credentials today for the benefit of the selection committee.

La Salle, Dayton and Louisville, the three likely prospects, all won handsily last night. So did St. Francis of Brooklyn, the hopeful.

Duquesne, the nation's second-ranking team, accepted an invitation yesterday and showed its skill last night in walloping helpless Carnegie Tech 86-40 for its 19th consecutive victory.

Western Kentucky already is in the tournament field.

La Salle did the selectors a double favor in beating Iona 82-69. It ran its own winning streak to 11 games in an 18-3 season and it cooled off the tournament claims of Iona, the tallest team in the New York area.

Dayton whipped Miami of Ohio 80-69, probably dumping Miami from consideration. The Flyers from Dayton have a 19-5 record.

Louisville trimmed Loyola of New Orleans 94-77, running its mark to 17-5. Both Louisville and Dayton have lost to W. Kentucky.

St. Francis of Brooklyn, the best New York area team available for the NIT, defeated Temple 71-62. The Brooklyn school has won 17 of 20 including 10 in a row.

St. Francis' tournament chances figure to be slim despite its record because many New York observers feel it has not played a strong enough schedule.

'500' Entry List Increased To 10

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—The entry list for the Indianapolis 500-mile race increased to 10 cars today.

Lee Wallard, the 1951 winner, was named to pilot one of the new entries, a four-cylinder, super-charged number entered by Murrell Belanger, Crown Point, Ind.

Cal Niday of Pacoima, Calif., was tapped as Wallard's teammate in a second Belanger entry. The 1953 eastern big car champion, Joe Sostilio of East Natick, Mass., will drive on Ed Walsh's three-car Bardahl team with national champion Sam Hanks and former "500" winner Bill Holland.

Expert Opines Golf Rules Frequently On Stupid Side

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK (AP)—In no other sport is the competitor so completely at the whim of the fates as he is in golf. We have long felt that the rules of the game, scarcely changed since the days of the gutta percha ball, were downright stupid in some cases.

The latest exhibit in support of this contention is the story of Bob Inman, a youthful dark horse from Tulsa, Okla., who quite probably was beaten out of first prize money in the $10,000 Phoenix Open because a sheet of paper blew across his vision just as he was driving off on the 64th hole.

At one time, he was leading his closest rival, Cary Middlecoff, by one stroke with nine holes to go. Startled by the paper, blown from a nearby table, Inman shanked into a grove of trees. He took a 7 on the hole and, thoroughly shaken by then, wound up with a 77 for the round and a total five shots behind Middlecoff and Ed Furgol, who played off the tie yesterday.

Our feeling is, after having witnessed scores of fairly similar incidents in many years of following championship play, that there is no earthly reason why the golfing barons should not unbow their necks slightly and try to give the players an even snake. In such an instance, why should the youngster not have been permitted a second whack from the tee?

It was a lot of money to ask him to surrender simply because some careless person permitted a paper to blow. Out on the fairway it would have been different, for a player naturally looks around for stray dogs and other possible distractions before starting his swing. He has a right to feel he can relax from the tee.

Though golf has become so nearly an exact science and the competition so close that a single stroke may normally be worth several thousand dollars in the big money events, there has been no slackening in the stern and ancient code which leaves so much to luck.

There should be. For example, many times seen two players send their respective shots into the same sand trap, maybe only feet apart. Yet one would find his ball lying up nicely while his rival's would be deeply imbedded in a heel print left by a spectator. It never

New Method Suggested To Help Wheat Harvesters Beat Weather

Pickaway County farmers can obtain experienced advice and up-to-date literature on their farming problems at the County Extension Office, located in the Post Office Building, S. Court St., Circleville.

The office here, headed by County Agent Larry Best, is an extension of the Agriculture College of Ohio State University.

Two Ohio agricultural engineers have developed a method to help Buckeye farmers overcome weather handicaps during wheat harvest time.

Their system will enable a farmer to combine his wheat at a kernel moisture condition as high as 28 percent. This may mean fewer time delays and lower field losses from shattering or lodging.

Cooperating with the Ohio Rural Electrification Council, W. H. Johnson and J. T. Hurst of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster used rapid drying techniques to offset the high moisture condition of the early combined grain. Their tests showed sound wheat resulted in all cases except when the grain was stored above 16 per cent moisture in bags.

Another observation indicated that early combining works well as long as straw and grain do not have water or dew on the surfaces. At a 28 per cent moisture stage, straw does not break as badly, chaff tends to remain on the straw, and cutter-bar losses are reduced.

Under these conditions, however, the cylinder concave adjustment is extremely important to avoid excessive losses of unthreshed grain. Tests show that these losses may range from almost nothing to 20 per cent depending upon adjustment of the cylinder concave.

Johnson and Hurst learned that test weights varied from 59 pounds per bushel early in the season to 55 pounds two weeks after normal combine season. Rapid drying contributed to the high test weight.

The engineers plan further to study certain types of grain conditioning; and in cooperation with the federal soft wheat laboratory at Wooster, they will conduct milling and baking tests of wheat harvested by the new method.

Spring fertilization and proper grazing will help offset dry weather damage to permanent pastures, an extension agronomist reminds farmers.

E. P. Reed at Ohio State University, warned, "Over-grazing during the spring of 1954—before weakened plants have had an opportunity to make some growth and build a root system—will greatly decrease the total production from bluegrass pastures."

"March applications of a straight nitrogen fertilizer or a complete fertilizer high in nitrogen will increase spring growth and offset much of the ill effects of adverse weather during the summer and fall of 1953." For straight nitrogen, Reed suggested 60 pounds of nitrogen an acre on fields previously treated with phosphate and potash. He suggested 600 pounds an acre of 10-10-10 as a complete fertilizer.

The agronomist explained that hot, dry weather last fall and summer limited bluegrass recovery following its summer dormancy. A few bluegrass plants may be dead. In most cases, however, there are enough rhizomes and buds to maintain a satisfactory stand of bluegrass if it receives care this spring.

Rhizomes are underground stems and one of the methods by which bluegrass spreads.

Push-button feeding will reduce dairy chores that now take 500 per cent more time than producing feed for the herd, I. P. Blauser, extension agricultural engineer, claims.

He said agricultural engineers are working on a mechanized feeder that measures and delivers to each cow the amount of feed she needs at each feeding. Blauser called it semi-automatic. Farmers still will need to set the measuring device for each cow, then push the master lever to start the feeder.

Chore labor accounts for 60 to 75 per cent of all labor used in livestock production. Blauser said some farmers are reducing that with automatic silo unloaders, conveyors and elevators, overhead feed storage, and time clocks that start and stop electrical equipment.

The simplest device for saving chore labor is a grain and silage cart, according to Blauser. It saves carrying baskets of feed to individual animals.

Severe raking of lawns does more harm than good, according to Victor H. Ries, extension floriculturist. Ries said many people seem to delight in getting out the rake and giving the lawn a thorough going over the first warm day of spring.

Dead grass and leaves build up organic matter on the soil surface, and that's good for the lawn, he said. However, the specialist said matted leaves should be removed because they smother the grass.

More workers are now engaged in the marketing of farm products than in farm production itself, according to a recent United States Department of Agriculture report on marketing and transportation of farm products.

Fewer and fewer workers have been needed over the past two decades to produce food and fiber on U. S. farms. More and more people have been engaged in marketing farm produce, the report indicates.

During the last 20 years, the number of workers in agriculture decreased by 10 to 15 per cent. The number engaged in marketing may have increased by more than a third.
